Users have now used Vlingo over 100,000,000 times

CAMBRIDGE, MASS. (December 10, 2009) – Vlingo Corporation, maker of the world’s most popular mobile voice application, today debuted Vlingo 4.0 Plus, featuring “Vlingo Everywhere.” Extending Vlingo’s mobile voice features, users can now speak text into any field where their BlackBerry® smartphone already allows them to type.

Users have now used Vlingo over 100,000,000 times to quickly and easily get things done on their phone. Vlingo has empowered BlackBerry smartphone users to use their voices to instantly send a text or email message, call a friend, search the Web, update their Facebook or Twitter status, create a note to self and more by speaking to their BlackBerry smartphones. Vlingo 4.0 Plus will add to this rich feature set the ability to add text to virtually every downloaded and native BlackBerry smartphone application, and even websites, by simply speaking.

“The versatility and safety that Vlingo has added to smartphones by allowing users to speak to their devices is what has made it one of the top-selling application downloads for BlackBerry users,” said Dave Grannan, president and CEO of Vlingo. “Now our users will be able to apply those same dynamics to virtually every facet of their BlackBerry smartphone experience.”

Vlingo enables users to launch applications by voice and speak their commands and text entry. It also reads spoken text back to ensure accuracy. A new feature in Vlingo 4.0 Plus, Vlingo Everywhere, makes common tasks on the BlackBerry smartphone easier by interacting with the following:

- Instant Messengers: BlackBerry® Messenger, AIM®, Yahoo!® IM, Windows Live™ Messenger
